

»» EATING OUT

Smoothie Shop Specifics

DON'T BE FOOLED BY THE HEALTHY HYPE AT YOUR JUICE JOINT BY VANESSA GENEVA AHERN

You know summer's here when visions of frothy, ice-cold smoothies start haunting your hot-weather workouts. Many fast-food franchises have recognized the consumer craving for healthy smoothies. Yet with so many varieties, the choices can be dizzying, unless you know what to look for. For instance, here's a no-brainer: It's important to watch calories (250–300 calories is a good benchmark, although we realize a few listed below go over that).

Tara Gidus, RD, LD/N, national media spokesperson for the American Dietetic Association, gives a complete checklist:

- »» Choose a smoothie that's made with fresh or frozen fruit, not a flavoring or syrup. You'll get the benefits of real fruit.
- »» Add a scoop of protein powder.
- »» Stick with low-fat milk or plain yogurt instead of frozen yogurt as a base.

Here's a sampling of good bets at the most popular smoothie shops.

SMOOTHIE JOINT	WHAT TO ORDER	NUTRITION 411	MAKE IT BETTER
 Jamba Juice	Protein Berry Workout Smoothie (16 oz.)	270 calories 16 g protein 53 g carbs 1 g fat 4 g fiber 45 g sugar	»» To cut calories, try a Jamba Light smoothie such as the Mango Mantra (16 oz.), which contains 160 calories, 6 g protein, 34 g carbs, 30 g sugar, 2 g fiber and is rich in vitamins A and C. Add a scoop of whey or soy protein.
 Orange Julius	Blueberrathon Premium Fruit Smoothie (20 oz.)	440 calories 3 g protein 110 g carbs 1 g fat 9 g fiber 78 g sugar	»» Add the Protein Boost, which offers 19 g of the muscle-building nutrient.
 Panera Bread	Strawberry Smoothie (22 oz.)	300 calories 6 g protein 65 g carbs 1.5 g fat 6 g fiber 49 g sugar	»» High in sugar, but the fiber comes from real fruit (strawberries) as opposed to artificial flavorings.
 Robeks Juice	Cardio Cooler (24 oz.)	430 calories 17 g protein 88 g carbs 2 g fat 6 g fiber 76 g sugar	»» The protein gives it staying power to keep you full. Pick from a slew of nutritional boosts such as whey or soy protein.
 Smoothie King	Slim-N-Trim Chocolate "Skinny" version (20 oz.)	124 calories 8 g protein 26 g carbs 1 g fat 2 g fiber 19 g sugar	»» Add the Muscle Builder enhancer to help grow your muscles and speed your postworkout recovery. It contains 100% pure creatine monohydrate and amino acids L-glutamine and taurine.
 Starbucks	White Chocolate Mocha Frappuccino Light Blended Coffee (grande — 16 oz.)	180 calories 6 g protein 34 g carbs 2 g fat 3 g fiber 25 g sugar	»» You get a decent amount of protein and fiber for a frappe and a good alternative to the original version, which has 410 calories and 16 grams of fat. Be sure to say, "No whip!"

PORNCHEI MITTONGTARE (6); FOOD STYLIST: BASIL FRIEDMAN